Issue-#48-2006

COMING EVENTS

The G.T.H.S. Programme Committee will not be having any guest speakers during the summer months. Some ideas are in the workings and any updates will be noted in future Issues of the 'Goulbourn News', in the local papers or the local membership will be called.

We would like to wish you all a wonderful summer.

WE'RE LOOKING FOR SOME CREATIVE IDEAS

Are there some creative artists out there? The Goulbourn Township Historical Society is looking for a new logo – one which will reflect the former Township's history. If you are interested and would like to submit an idea, please email or call the Museum (both are noted above).

Costumes and Clothing

The Museum and the Historical Society are trying to increase their collection of wearable costumes for museum activities and heritage events. Do you have some items that are in your way or cluttering your house – items that could be useful to us? We are looking for old hats and caps, both men's and ladies. Also useful are flour sacks, feed sacks, aprons and various odds and ends. Also, if your Aunt left you a box of sewing supplies and buttons and cloth that are no use to you, please consider passing the whole box of old 'junk' along to us – maybe it would be a 'treasure' to us. Thankyou.

THE NEWSLETTER COMMITTEE

We are also looking for creative writers – memoirs, historical extracts, items of interest. All welcome. Please contact Virginia at 836-1556.

MUSEUM HOURS

During the summer, the Goulbourn Museum will be open Tuesday to Friday, 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., as well as Sunday afternoons, 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

LOOKING BACK

The Hidden House

Just so no reader gets as confused as I was:

Concession 9 fronts on 9th Line (Flewellyn Rd)
Concession 10 fronts on 10th Line (Fernbank Rd)
Concession 11 fronts on 11th Line (Abbott St)
Lot 26 lies on the East Side of Shea Rd

The Pig Gate

Most drivers negotiating the dog-leg at Shea and Fernbank fail to notice the fine stone farm house on the NE corner of the intersection with a giant cut-out pig on the gate. In the winter it hides behind cedar trees and in summer it disappears behind maples in leaf. An effort to describe its history was side-tracked by the intriguing family history of Richard Flewellyn, first owner of the house, so we end up with two interwoven stories.

The house stands on the corner of Concession 10 Lot 26. Edward Bassett and his wife obtained the Patent for the rear $\frac{1}{4}$ from the Crown on 22 January, 1840 and for the remaining $\frac{3}{4}$ on 2 December 1851. Bassett is also shown as the owner of C11 L26 on Walling's 1863 map. "Richard Flewellyn & wife" purchased all 195 acres of C10L26 on 14 December 1869. In June 1870 a four-acre slice at the rear was purchased by the advancing Canada Central Railway Company (and is now part of the Trans Canada Trail).

The Flewellyn homestead 2006

Wilma Kelly, Richard's great-grand daughter, searched the 1871 census to determine that Richard Flewellyn was born in Ireland in 1835. His wife, Margaret Boyle was born in 1839, also in Ireland. They came to Canada in 1863, accompanied by four-year old John. The voyage was undoubtedly a difficult time, particularly for Margaret, as William was born en route. According to oral history, a son named Robert had died at the age of two, probably in Ireland. Richard Henry was born in 1864, followed by George, James, Margaret Emma and Margaret Elizabeth at two-year intervals, Harriet in 1879, Beatrice (also called Bertha) in 1881 and Mabel in 1884.

In 1874 (the earliest Assessment Roll we have) Richard is shown living on 24½ acres of C11L26 owned by John Kemp, and owning C10L26. It is not clear (to me) where the Flewellyns lived until 1876 when the Goulbourn Township Assessment Roll shows the population at C10L26 increased from one to ten persons. We can perhaps assume that C11L26 offered adequate accommodation for the family while Richard was busy clearing and building on C10L26, permitting them all to gradually occupy their home starting in 1876. The 1877 Collector's Roll shows 9 cattle, 8 sheep, 2 hogs and 4 horses at C11L26. By 1879, he no longer rented this property and a similar number of livestock was shown at C10L26 where 50 acres had been cleared.

By 1883, 75 acres were cleared, probably with help of the older boys, and things seemed to be going well, although the family experienced another tragedy in 1881 when William died at the age of 18.

After many spelling variations, the assessor finally got the name right as Flewellyn in 1884. Cleared acreage totalled 155, sustaining 13 cattle, 20 sheep, 3 hogs and 5 horses. However, the next few years must have been difficult because both the cleared acreage and the livestock reduced slightly in 1888.

In 1889, an orchard was established. The property was assessed at $2,800. Richard was 65 in 1900, but still going strong. He had 21 cattle, 12 sheep, 15 hogs and 6 horses. It must have been about this time that Richard Henry decided to "Go West" and he farmed in Saskatchewan for the rest of his life (he died in 1960). John also seems to have departed, leaving James, George and the five girls at home.

James moved out of the family home, probably in 1902, with his purchase of 100 acres, 80 cleared, of C9L26. He is listed there alone until 1911 when he married Mary Jane Spearman.

In 1903 George started a long association with the Farmer's Independent Cheese Factory, perhaps even starting it because milk production at C10L26 increased significantly with 28 cattle, growing to 40 the next year. In the same period the other livestock decreased.

From 1904 to 1907 the situation at C10L26 was fairly stable but appeared to deteriorate in 1908 when only 125 acres (25 decrease) were shown as cleared. In 1909 only 96 acres were cleared. However, at the same time, the building assessment moved from $350 to $3,000 and property from $3,300 to $5,000. The increased assessment could be attributed to building the stone house we admire today. (If so, it casts doubt on 1886 date carved into the wall as being the date of construction. Perhaps the example of the Grants on Hazeldean Road was followed: When the Robert Grant house was rebuilt after the 1870 fire, 1822 was carved on the lintel to mark the date of building the original house.) Richard, then 73, transferred the East Half of the property to George in 1909.

George's hand is visible in the 1910 assessment when the cleared acreage was restored to 160 with 35 listed as "slash." Richard had replaced George at the cheese factory, shown as located at C12L11, although this location (Jinkinson Rd and Hwy 7) is suspect. Later, Richard and George are shown as joint owners of 160 acres of C12L11 which had no residents shown so Richard probably continued to live at the family home.

This convenient arrangement continued during the war years until 1917 when the building assessment of C10L26 decreased to $2,200 and property increased to $6,900.

The Assessment Roll for 1918 is the last one in the Township Archives. That was the year Richard died at the age of 83 and George inherited the West Half. Richard's wife Margaret had died in 1887. Of their eleven children only John, Richard Henry and James married. "R.H" went to Saskatchewan and John also leaves this story. Today, James' grandson Jim and his wife Lisa farm the property on the 9th Line (Flewellyn Road).

George continued to farm until his death in August 1945. Bare facts likely hide what must have been a very traumatic time for George's surviving sisters. By quit claim deed executrix Margaret transferred the property to Harriet for one dollar in 1946. The following year it was sold to George A. Jamieson for $8,000 and the Flewellyn name disappeared from C10L26. George Jamieson fell behind in his taxes and Alvin Jamieson paid back taxes of $729 in 1954. The Land Register shows that George A. Jamieson and his wife sold the property to William Paul in 1957 for $14,000. Dorothy and Bill Jones, the current owners, purchased a sub-divided ten acres including the house in 1962. The remaining 185 acres await a decision on the current controversy regarding a large housing development

Dorothy, a war bride, recalls that the house was in "a pretty good-sized mess" when they moved in, but the couple restored it and happily raised their daughter in the peaceful countryside. She also pursued a life-time love of pigs, initiated during a farm visit in England when she was only four years old. Today, her farm boasts a huge cut-out pig on the gate and a superb pig wind vane on the barn. Inside are some 200 stuffed and china pigs surrounded by pig calendars and pig ornaments. She will be pleased to learn that Richard Flewellyn also favoured pigs and had 29 in 1903.

Observation from Bernie...

Changing Attitudes!

The Goulbourn Township Assessment Rolls from 1874 to 1918 only identify women if they are Spinster or Widow. Margaret Flewellyn, wife of Richard, for example, who had eleven children, one born while crossing the Atlantic Ocean in 1863, and died at the age of 48, does not get a mention. But dogs and bitches are enumerated every year.

I would sincerely like to express my thanks to Bernie for providing this article to print in the G.T.H.S. "Goulbourn News". He visited the owners, then compiled the information and gave us a very interesting article to read.

THOUGHT TO PONDER

OLD STORYTELLER WHO REPEATS TALES DESERVES UNDERSTANDING AUDIENCE

This 'Thought' comes from the Ottawa Citizen's, Dear Abby column (2000).

Blow The Rest Away

Wheat, after the harvest, must be thrashed
To separate the chaff from the grain.
The chaff is light and worthless,
And is easily blown away.
The things people say to us
Are a lot like the wheat.
Some of it has truth and value, and
Some of it, like the chaff, is worthless.
Sometimes people will tell the same jokes and stories
over and over,
say provocative things, just to get your attention,
quickly overreact to your viewpoints,
always play the devil's advocate, or just talk and talk and talk.
People usually have a reason for what they say, and
We need to listen carefully, and even
Look behind their words, and between the lines
To separate the chaff from the grain,
Keep what is worthwhile, and
With a quiet, patient understanding,
Blow The Rest Away.

RECIPES**

These recipes were found in one of the many cookbooks that are in the Museums collection.

Titled, Helen Gougeon's Original Canadian Cookbook

This book was compiled in the 50s from recipes that I had collected all across Canada and published in my column when I was food editor of Weekend Magazine.

NUTMEG BEETS

This is one of those recipes, almost too simple to mention, except that it points up the use of a spice, usually associated with desserts. Nutmeg is fine with spinach, onions, broccoli, cauliflower, cabbage, green peas, succotash and sweet potatoes. It's good in soups, too.

1 can beets, diced or cut into strips,
OR freshly cooked beets

2 tbsp. butter
Dash of nutmeg

Heat beets and drain.

Toss with butter and a dash of nutmeg

This is one of those dishes, which gain a reputation for a cook. It is the extra dish, the unexpected treat which can even be eaten with a salad, as a main course.

DID YOU KNOW

(Taken from the book titled "What is it?" written by Lorraine O'Byrne in 1977.) Where and what does the phrase "Dyed in the Wool" come from and mean?: Cloth woven from dyed wool is more thoroughly and evenly coloured and will retain its colour better than material dyed in the piece. The fleece will absorb the dye through and through. A person described as 'dyed in the wool' has characteristics, which are unlikely to change.

The banker fell overboard from a friend's sailboat. The friend grabbed a life preserver, held it up, not knowing if the banker could swim, and shouted, "Can you float alone?" "Well, you would need some sort of collateral," the banker replied, "but this is a heck of a time to talk business."
